Gotta Stop Hangin' Round "Gotta Stop Hangin' Round" is a song written by Bob Dylan and released on the soundtrack album for The Lovin' Spoonful's 1969 film Honeysuckle Rose. It was also released as a single in several countries, including the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom and Australia. Dylan played the song on Honeysuckle Rose himself, saying: "People are going to be hating this song. But I just did it because it's got so many chords in it, I wanted to do it myself. But I didn't know if I could do it. I had to work on the chorus. I put a lot of thought into this, because it's so different. I mean, people are going to be aghast at this because they've heard everything else I've ever done. But it was a way to make a statement. I hope it makes people think about the world." The song was a success in the UK, where it was the second-best-selling single of 1969. The single, whose A-side was a cover of Sam Cooke's "Bring it on Home to Me", went to No. 2 on the UK Singles Chart and No. 16 in Australia. It was the first Dylan song to chart in the UK since the release of "Like a Rolling Stone" in August 1965, and the only US Dylan song to chart until " 1d6a3396d6
