This game is a part of What's on Your Mic? series. This game is optimized for android, and xbox, but there are plans to bring it to other platforms. It is NOT suitable for young children. Happy gaming! A: This looks neat and I'd like to check it out, but unfortunately it appears you need Google Play to do so and from the description it's not clear how to get that. Also, you may have misunderstood the concept. This is a non-story-based game, and I suspect you're thinking it's some sort of game "about" what you say, like a game that puts you in a world where a bridge isn't real. But it isn't. It's a game that gives you some goal to pursue within the context of a limited world, and then lets you determine what you do with your limited resources to achieve that goal. There are no narrative arcs or any story to speak of. Q: Java generics: convert List to List I have a generic class, ie: class GenericClass { List list = new ArrayList(); public void add(T obj) { list.add(obj); } public T get(int index) { return list.get(index); } } Now I've created a subclass: class Subclass extends GenericClass { } How can I convert a List into a List? NOTE: I can't use an extended class (eg: class Subclass extends GenericClass) because my classes are in multiple packages. A: Read about wildcards. They allow you to treat generics as just plain old objects. See the javadoc for List. It allows you to use any subtype of List. Your Subclass is a subtype of List as you made it. public static void main(String[] args) { List classList = new ArrayList(); classList.add(new Subclass()); List subclassList = new ArrayList c9d1549cdd

A Chicago politician has been indicted on campaign finance fraud charges over claims he committed election fraud by filing more than $1 million in invalid expenses in an attempt to steal a State House race. Ken Dunkin, who is running for a seat in the Chicago legislature, has been charged with five counts of election fraud. Police have been looking into the city councilman since his candidacy was contested in the 2016 election. He appeared in court on Wednesday and pleaded not guilty to the charges. State law requires that local candidates who were previously on the ballot for office re-file their petitions after being challenged in the election. Among the expenses allegedly filed in the scam were $1,000 in phone bills from Dunkin's girlfriend. (Image: CPD) (Image: CPD) The prosecution alleges that Dunkin filed fraudulent campaign expenses that represented legitimate expenses for their shared apartment. He allegedly paid out $11,000 in rent for the building in the Ogden district of the city, where he lived with his girlfriend at the time. The expenses included $9,000 in August of last year, and $2,000 in November.
