Adidas Air Yeezy Boost 350 V2 "The Racer" Black Buy | here • adidas • adidas First Adizero and Air Yeezy Boost 350 V2 were introduced, the adidas ZX Flux took up the market, and both of these series of shoes have their own specific functions. Today it is time for the adidas Yeezy 350 V2 (renewed) shoes. Yeezy! Upper: the upper part of the shoe covers the upper body; it is a mesh that keeps the air inside the shoe. It has a great sense of touch but is also breathable. The upper material is leather. The suede upper wears well and has a nice feeling. Only the treaded shoes are sturdier. The sole adopts a multi-layer construction with a core structure and a dense overlay. This gusset supports the knee and ankle and allows the foot to be securely attached to the top of the shoe. The upper part of the sole is made from rubber and the overlay has a mixture of all-terrain rubber and asphalt. The sole has a special concept for the Yeezy Boost 350 V2: a three-layer composite plate with stable and stable. It has a 2.5cm ball at the top and a rubber strip on the side. Yeezy's patented design For their new Yeezy Boost 350 V2 shoes, Adidas first broke the standard single-layer adidas on the market. This innovation corresponds to the nature of the competition to Yeezy. They are called "Stadium" in the language, shoes in which each layer of the sole corresponds to a layer of the field. In the 350 V2, Adidas again made a special engineering breakthrough: a 2.5 cm large rubber gusset at the top to perform as the "etude" of a conventional football boot. At the same time, a rubber strip was placed next to the little foot to exert pressure on the area of the foot during walking. After the birth of the 350 V2 shoes, Adidas added to the existing adidas Yeezy Boost 1 and Yeezy Boost 700 shoes. The upper has the same characteristics as that of the 350 V2, with a slightly tighter construction. It has a more stable and solid feel, making it most suitable for the rough terrain of the trails. The Yeezy Boost 350 V2 comes with a new design of the outer
