The controls in FIFA 22 are meant to be super easy to use, just like the very first version of the game. Take the sword as an example, it is very simple to use. Activate, slash, activate, slash and so on. All of those actions are very easy to perform. The weapons also become more intuitive than any previous FIFA game, this could be a massive plus. An example of one of the new offensive moves is performed by the player. The player makes a simple run towards the goal, lifts the ball and throws it to the goalkeeper who can then score the goal, with the players body still locked in a run towards the goal. Another new feature with the game is the ability to make running catches. To do this the player will need to place the ball on the floor, and then make the run towards the ball. There will also be a new way of handling the ball as players will be able to jump on the ball, and perform a high-speed slide. Players will also be able to perform a "specialized attack move" on the ball to score, and use new defensive options to get off the ball and defend. FIFA 22 will also play more realistic than ever. The game could be very fun and entertaining, and if anything I hope the quality will be even improved on. And if any of you were wondering how it would feel like to play in a FIFA title, well, here are the screenshots as a proof that it will definitely be enjoyable.

What's new:

- New “HyperMotion” Technology which combines data from real-life footballers performing in high-intensity action situations to make sure that every aspect of the game matches the action on the pitch. Previous version of FIFA had largely been generated using numerical optimization and would rely on lengthy simulations to ensure that the gameplay matched the reality of what a real football pitch looked like. With FIFA 22 you can now control the speed, acceleration, and actions on the ball during more confrontations in real-life on a game to game basis to make sure the visuals match the action;
- You can now play in Big Heads mode in Pro Clubs or Soccernomics World Cup mode;
- You can now be a player or manager in Pro Clubs and Soccernomics Mode;
- You can now assign Thematic kits to your club in soccer trades which will not be changing
- You can now inspect the crowd for your most emotional moments such as celebrate with a corner you have just won;
- You can now play as Santos in Pro Clubs, and also Santos in The Journey Mode.
