HyperMotion Technology is the most ambitious feature update yet in the sport of football. With the most precise, reliable tracking available, movements are captured exactly as they happen during a match, offering endless gameplay options. Team-Specific Artificial Intelligence When a match is played in FIFA 19 or 21, each player's actions are triggered based on the rules of that particular team. For example, a defender reacts differently to balls played long or short, a midfielder is more cautious when he sees a teammate put in an attacking run, and so on. With a smarter AI, players react even more in an authentic manner. FIFA HyperMotion™ Technology in FIFA 22 For the first time ever, every single player is tracked by the software, enabling the game to react even more dynamically to the entire field. The movement of each player is mapped and stored, meaning you can move a player like a traditional player would, then you can pick your player up, move him with the joystick, and he'll react like he normally would. Easier to Understand Reactions Based on the actions of other players, the AI is able to predict how players will react to actions. Instead of having to load an entire playbook, you can react to every move in the game, something which teams and players have been asking for ever since the first football video game came out. Realistic Team Trajectories AI FIFA 22's new tool, Trajectories, uses Dynamic Goal Scoring and Goal Line Technology to reward teams that are more dynamic, and even more accurate than ever before. Trajectories comes with two main features: Trajectories Everywhere: Every player has a unique Trajectory that allows the game to reward teams that make use of the entire field. Trajectories Everywhere allows teams to move players more fluidly and change formations more often, putting more pressure on the defense. Trajectories Everywhere is introduced at FIFA U.S. Open Cup where all of Major League Soccer's top teams compete on the beautiful Sportsplex turf. Smart Player Trajectories Dynamic Trajectories uses goal difference and other factors to create powerful incentives for teams that score more goals, and rewards teams that put pressure on the opposition by having multiple attacking players that can dribble and pass the ball. FIFA 21's Trajectories feature was introduced in the last U.S. Open Cup match between the Seattle Sounders
