download[Mechanism of action of gamma-aminobutyric acid and its analogs on activity of cerebral neurons]. The mechanisms of action of gamma-aminobutyric acid (GABA) and its analogs on the activity of rat neocortical neurons were investigated by extracellular recording of the spontaneous activity of neurons before and after application of agents of the GABAergic system. The following results were obtained. 1. The activity of neurons in the forebrain and brainstem was depressed by GABA and its analogs, N-methyl-GABA and gamma-amino-alphahydroxypyrrrolidine. 2. The depressions in the activity of neocortical neurons were antagonized by bicuculline, picrotoxin, beta-alanine, 4-aminobutanoic acid, and were usually dose-dependent. 3. The suppressions of the discharge rate and spontaneous activity by bicuculline, picrotoxin, and GABA, were prevented by selective destruction of presumed inhibitory nerve terminals of the same layer of the cerebral cortex using colchicine. The discharge rate and spontaneous activity was suppressed by the same amount by GABA in the presence of picrotoxin or bicuculline, indicating that GABA appears to depress the activity of neocortical neurons by acting as an indirect transmitter.Q: How to programmatically update a layout for a View Pager (using Fragments) I have a ViewPager which loads six Fragments. Each Fragment loads a different photo gallery (1, 2, 3, 4...) I'm trying to programmatically update the layout as the user scrolls through the gallery. At the moment I can programmatically update the title of each gallery (by getting the element id). My question is, how do I calculate the starting position of the gallery view so that I can update the background colour, image and title of the gallery. Also, when the user clicks on the button, should the view pager come back to the first gallery or should it stay the same as it
