

Features include Realistic Ball Physics, new player models for over 50 national teams and nearly 50 National Teams; real-time athlete information, such as new displays of fatigue, injury, and fitness levels; enhanced cover and shootout match engine with new Cover Dance mechanic; all-new 3D free kicks and FKs; improved AI for defenders; re-designed midfield play and key passes; new collision and animation-based physics engine that reacts in real-time to player movements and actions; new core attributes that power the game's signature player skills; improved player functions such as hair-styles and hairstyles; new top-to-bottom gameplay adjustments for a deeper, more tactical experience, with options for enhanced or Classic AI. FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. New to FIFA 22 is "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data to power the physics, ball control and player attributes of the game. You can see the technology in action in the new matchmaking demo, which you can play on your PC as well as on select PlayStation and Xbox consoles, where it will be playable in full. Key Game Features Precision Ball Physics: The first FIFA title powered by the realism of the world's best players, the ball physics engine is an all-new, more accurate physics engine based on the countless hours of motion capture data collected from the world's best professional players. PhysX powers the ball handling and power of the ball while also allowing for higher levels of detail and accuracy in the animation of players and the balls. Real-Time Player Fatigue and Injury Detection: FIFA 22 features a new fatigue detection system powered by a player's position on the pitch, with features including adjusted hit ratings for players with fatigue and injury, reduced stamina for players facing fatigue and increased stamina for players with injured or undamaged stamina. Players with fatigue and injury will be taken out of a game to recover and will be marked with yellow and white rings, with the rings becoming larger as the injury or fatigue progresses. Injury status will also display in-game, with players experiencing an injury lasting five minutes or more displaying as white crosses, players injured for ten minutes or more displaying
