But even the best photographer sometimes just has a brilliant moment that grabs the attention of her eye and her camera. This moment is the basis of the image. It is the perfect composition of subject and shadow, or the perfect expression of light or emotion. There are as many ways to capture the moment as there are photographers. The more experience the photographer gains, the more options open up to her. The most important thing to remember when capturing a moment is to _do something_ with that moment. By doing something, you are communicating to the viewer that he or she shouldn't just sit back and watch — he or she _should_ step forward, grab the moment, and take a look. ## Explore the Tools Photoshop is a powerful program and comes packed with tools to inspire and express your creativity. This chapter is a tutorial on how to become a creative photographer with Photoshop, using photography of real people and real situations. Here's a rundown of the tools you need to capture a good photo of any real person: * A camera and a monitor that allows you to see what your camera is seeing * A tripod * A bag with a memory card * A tripod mount (optional) * An expensive camera (optional) * A good eye (optional) ## Capture the Moment: Identifying Your Subject Capturing a snapshot of a person is not an easy thing to do. This is because there are millions of shots of people on the web and a million ways to pose the person. A good photographer looks at the person's face and looks for features like eyes, nose, and mouth that could make a perfect photograph. She then looks at the person's body language and overall body shape to find the feature that will naturally make the body look to be in

Q: TinyMCE dynamic collapse/expand image button I am using TinyMCE with Wordpress in a project. I have a css class on an image that I want to turn into a button to enable and disable it in the editor. This is my JS: tinyMCE.init({ mode : "exact", elements : "tinymce", elements : [ { element : "img", attributes : { id : "toggleImage" } } ], theme_advanced_toolbar_location : "top", theme_advanced_toolbar_align : "left", theme_advanced_statusbar_location : "bottom", theme_advanced_buttons1 : "save", theme_advanced_buttons2 : "layer_remove", theme_advanced_buttons3 : "media_image", theme_advanced_buttons4 : "tablecontrols", theme_advanced_buttons5 : "wp_adv", theme_advanced_content_filtering : "none", theme_advanced_html_preview_replace : "on" }); Then when the image is clicked I get it working as desired but when it is being collapsed the button doesn't look like it is being clicked? Is there a way to get the hover effect to work when I collapse the image? A: The reason the hover effect is not working is that the img tag is invisible by default in the editor. However, if you wanted to expand the image to the left you could use: .mce-viewport img

Some questions to ask when choosing a new bathroom I'm remodeling our unfinished bathroom which I'm DIY'ing. I'm certain it will be done by the time we move into our new home but I'm just playing it safe! I'm curious to know what questions you had when choosing your bathroom. Are there are things that you didn't know you should have asked? _____ Tried it, it worked, now I'm hungry. Try it again! Last edited by Alpaca; 12-01-2009 at 08:12 AM. Reason: I said "passion" when i meant "pastiche"...Q: How to get all the ids where a condition does not hold I've got this piece of SQL that works the way I want it to, but seems rather inefficient: SELECT ID FROM table WHERE MAX(date) = '2008-10-01' ID is the primary key, and the goal is to get the ids that do not have a max date of 2011-01-01. A similar question has been asked in the past here, but the answer is not efficient for a larger amount of ids. How would I write a query that returns all the ids that meet a condition but do not have a max date of 2011-01-01? A: Replace the max() with min() to get the minimum id SELECT t1.id FROM table t1 JOIN (SELECT id FROM table WHERE MAX(date) Monday, October 15, 2015 Ten years ago, while I was an Economics student at the University of Bologna, we were offered an interesting voluntary test. The objective of the test was to select possible candidates for the next class. The test consisted in taking a "test" that was represented by a random sequence of twenty two numbers, and responding to the numbers in increasing order. The initial set of numbers was generated by an algorithm, and the nature
