influence of education on functional limitation and depression among the elderly. In a series of five studies, relationships between education and functional limitation and depression were investigated. Three studies found that, compared to old people with less than a high school education, old people with more than a high school education had significantly fewer functional limitations and a lower probability of being depressed. The fourth study did not find a significant relationship between education and functional limitation; however, it did find that, compared to old people with less than a high school education, old people with more than a high school education had significantly lower probabilities of being depressed and of being in need of support and of being in need of support during the past 12 months. The final study explored several possible explanations for the differences found between the older people with more than a high school education and the other participants and the non-significant results found in the fourth study, and explored what conditions influence the outcome of educational level on functional limitation and depression.Q: How do I use an Elasticsearch query filter to exclude documents matching a certain ID (Java)? I'm using the C# version of Elasticsearch and I'm trying to filter to only include documents in which an ID does not match a specific value (here, I am checking against a "known good" string). Example query I want to run: GET event/_search { "query" : { c6a93da74d
